Special Events And Sports

1966-67 Cen-trails King and Queen Court.

This, the year of the Camaro, earth-shaking world events, and more space than ever before known to man, create headlines all over the world. But memories, which exceed all headlines, remind Centralites of the innumerable episodes originating in the halls, lunchroom, and classes. The memories of the first football game, the ever-exciting basketball season, the Spring Prom, and the crowning of the king and queen create a high-pointed outline of the year. However, these would mean little without the pencils and notebooks, noon hour joking, and the unavoidable traffic jams in the halls associated with everyday school life. Tomorrow, when these years are history, 1966-67 will loom largely in our minds because--

Homecoming Highlights Year

On the evening of December 16, 1966, Centrails crowned its King and Queen. At the half of the A. C. -South Adams B-team game, the fans became hushed as the ceremonies began. Each of the six couples met at the golden arch and proceeded to the stage. The excitement came to a climax as Bill Stuckey became Centrail's King and Dianne Moser was crowned Queen.

We Deepen Our

Understanding our language greatly increases our ability to communicate with others properly. Expressing oneself on paper is a necessary part of learning to live with each other.

Studying and evaluating what others have written helps literature students understand human nature and the world around them.

Study hall provides valuable preparation time.

Speech student T. Patrick looks disbelieving as Mr. Zehr lectures on speech giving.

G. Wulliman intently studies her English and A. Birch follows suit.

Knowledge And Vocabulary Through Languages

Scrapbooks containing Latin root words were part of Latin II's semester test.

Spanish class members practice Spanish sentence structure.

Students at Adams Central were offered three foreign languages this year. French, Latin, and Spanish opened new doors to unusual customs and interesting places. The students viewed slides and films, listened to tapes, tasted foods native to the three lands, and dreamed of someday visiting these countries.

French, a new addition to the curriculum, gave future travelers an insight into French living.

Spanish classes studied history and social customs as well as sentence structure and verb placement.

Latin prepared students for medical careers and gave them a sound background for understanding the English language.

Janice Jones, Roxann Stavenick, Linda Mattax, and Steve Lyons make up the French Club officers.

The study of history goes beyond memorizing dates and names. Students at A. C. learn the importance of past and present day happenings and how they affect today's and tomorrow's world. Newspapers were scanned daily by U. S. History students in an attempt to prepare for Current Events. Current Events ranged from tic-tac-toe to the Match Game. World history classes explored the changes that have taken place in nations of the world.

History teacher Miss Starns pauses from the weary task of grading papers.

We Keep Pace With The Future

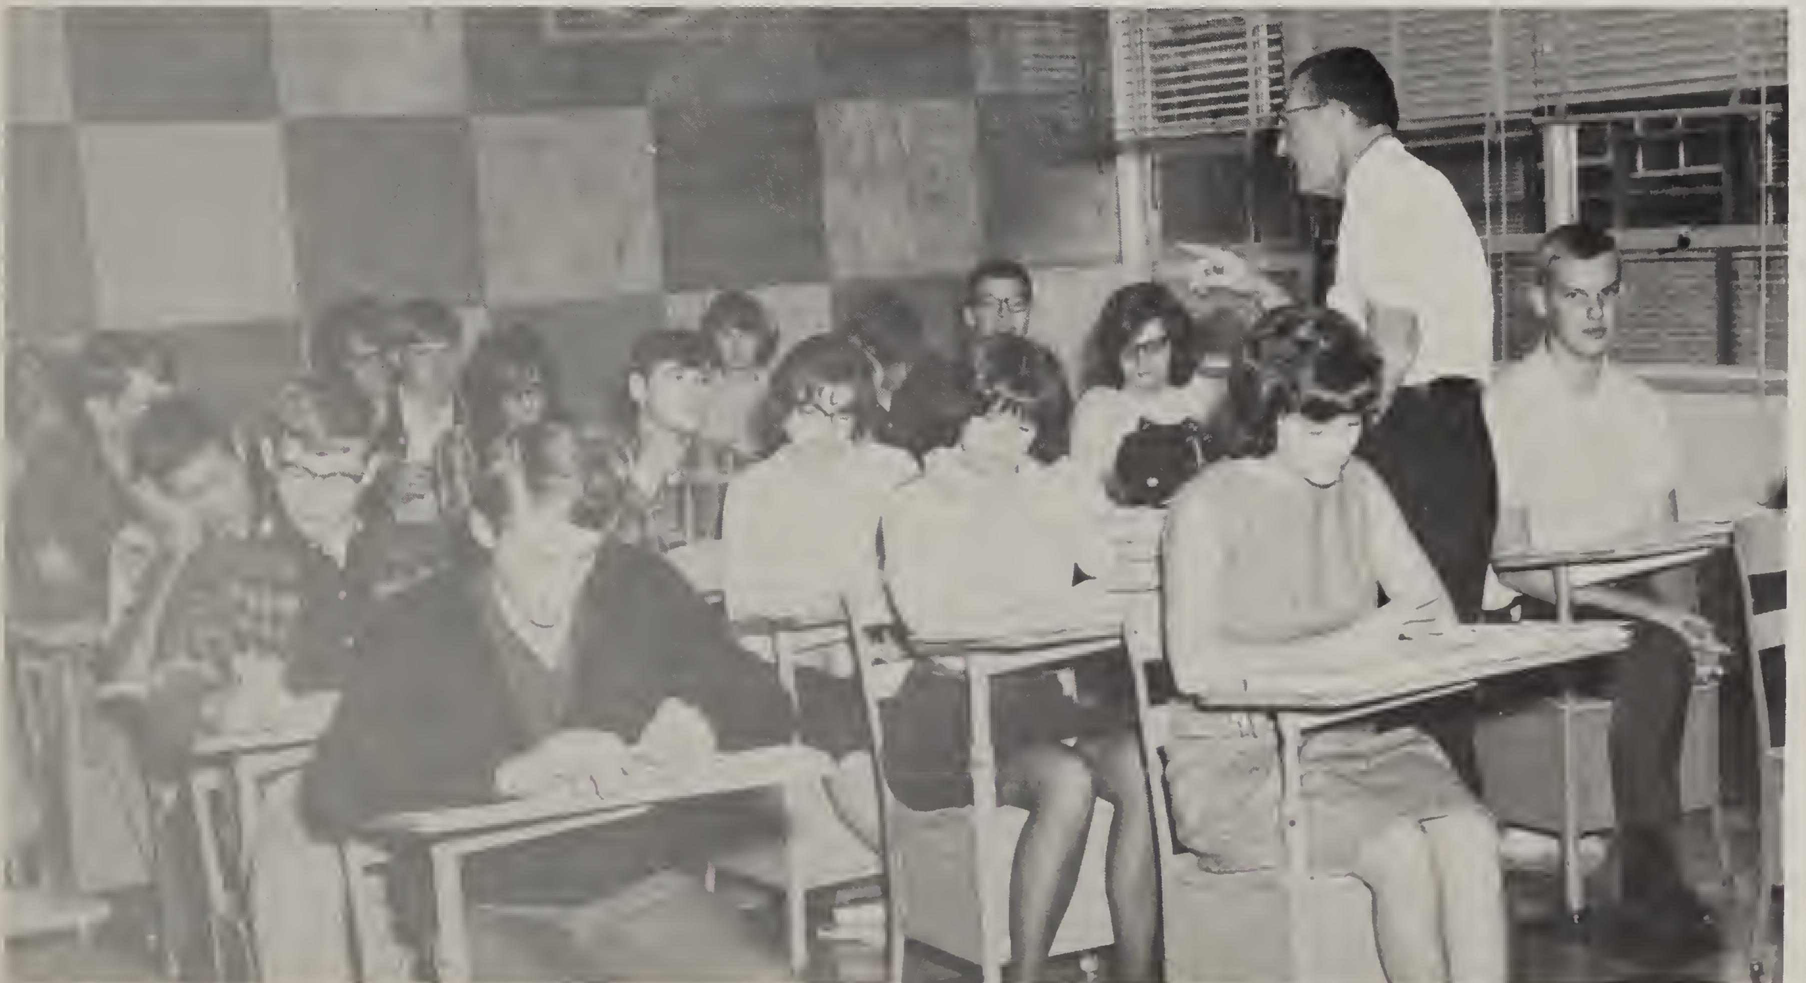
Current Events keep Juniors abreast of local, national, and world happenings.

Government students voiced opinions on controversial topics. While learning about their government, seniors studied the functions of the twelve Cabinet posts. Students studied government agencies and their importance. Sociology classes studied the problems in democracy such as adverse propaganda and communism. Students strove to understand and find solutions for these problems.

Assistant principal Mr. Shoup takes time out from his government classes to write D. Carver a pass.

...And Relive The Past

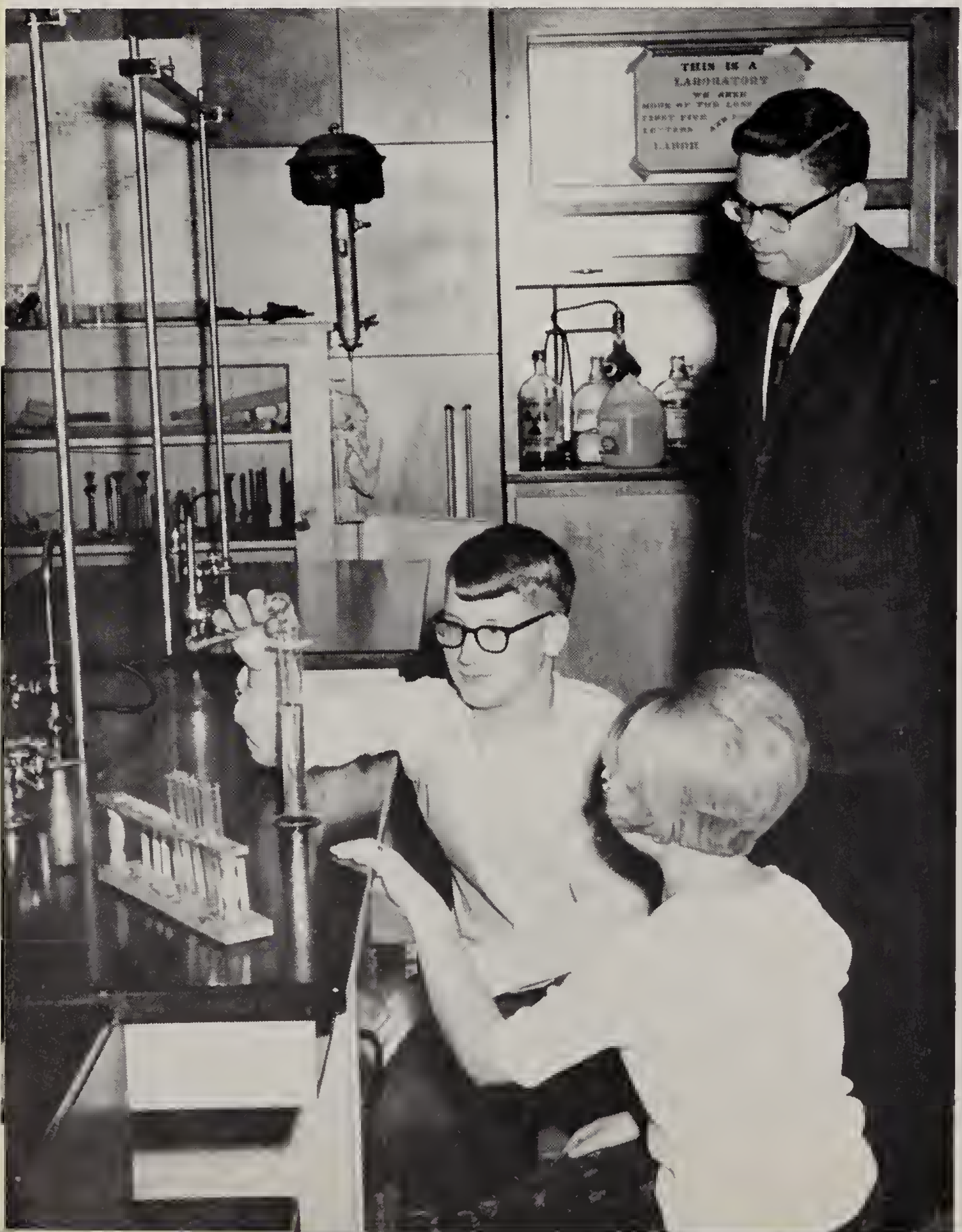
Mr. Shoup lectures his class on the problems in democracy.



Biology students explore the wonders of the aquatic world as Miss Williamson looks on.

Students Master Electrons, Scalpels

Chemistry students J. Stucky and J. Wagley experiment with the fundamentals of chemistry.



This year as school resumed, biology students displayed talent in chasing elusive butterflies. This, along with collecting seeds and romping through forests for leaf specimens, composed the main requirements of the course. The odor of formaldehyde in the biology room was proof that the students have been exploring the composition of star fish, clams and frogs.

Freshmen and sophomores looked with awe and anticipation at the lab which chemistry and physics students use daily. In this room of bases, acids, burners, and scales, young chemists experimented and conducted tests to evaluate chemical compounds and discover their compositions. The rest of their time is spent in the classroom where they learn other fundamentals of chemistry. Physics students focused on the laws of energy and the matter.

Morning math classes begin with a friendly chat.

Problem: erect a perpendicular at Q through P.

Cosines And Quadraties

Miss Beavers offers some plane help in solving a geometry problem.

The modern-day math which is employed at ACHS is more complicated than that of yesterday. Algebra, geometry, and trigonometry students must familiarize themselves with sets, brackets, and functions, the common language of modern math. Math students involved themselves in solving linear equations, graphing sets, working sets, working with triangles, and developing sines and tangents. All of these made up the average math classes held daily in the class rooms of Central.

Art And Music Develop Cultures

An angel's background from top to bottom.

Beauty takes many forms. Art and music guide students in discovering the beauty of works of art and musical masterpieces. Art is a high school elective and a weekly subject in grade school. Band and choir give high schoolers a chance to develop musical ability, while the elementary music classes march in time and learn new songs.

Tomorrow's Leaders Trained Today

Students who plan to launch business or homemaking careers take advantage of AC's Business and Home Economics courses. Business courses, ranging from secretarial training to bookkeeping, prepare students for secretarial and administrative jobs. Home Ec trains girls in the complicated matters of homemaking and family life.

Physical skills benefit students now and in future years. Coordination of mind and body is important in all walks of life. Adams Central's health and phy. ed. departments strive to teach students proper health habits. Weekly phy. ed. classes kept the boys' muscles bulging and the girls' figures trim.

Drivers Training teaches student drivers how to react in all types of situations. Drivers Education includes classroom instruction, supervised driving, lectures from experts in related fields, and learning the mechanics of how an engine functions.

'Learn by doing' inspired the cadet teaching program at Adams Central. For one hour each day, six senior girls became teachers or tutors in elementary classrooms. Exploratory teaching gives students an insight into the teaching profession.

"Agriculture The Strength of America" was the 1966-67 theme which helped the agriculture students progress. Mr. Watson and the student teacher, Mr. Reese, taught the ag students the latest methods so that they could compete successfully in the nations largest industry. Record keeping, ration planning, proper use of soil and farm tools comprised part of the ag program of study.

Cadet teacher Linda Sauers gives a student special help in reading.

Extra-curricular activities keep Centralites busy during after-school hours. Play practices, club meetings, and ball games add color to an already colorful day. Jets had 17 different organizations from which to choose. Organizations provide a chance to develop leadership, responsibility, and co-operation. "That was the Year that Was" in

Band Members Display Musical Talent

Rewards for excellence.

Adams Central claims four bands--the beginner, intermediate, junior, and senior, all of which are under the direction of Mr. Darrell Gerhig and Mr. Walter Henkel. The senior band, led by Drum Major Jim Gilbert and Majorette Donna Roudebush, has coped several firsts in marching contests and presented two band shows for football games. Award pins were distributed throughout the year to reward members for their efforts in improving the band.

Sports play an important part in school life. The scope of Central's sports was broadened this year with the introduction of football. A newly organized pep club cheered the seasonal favorites through victory and defeat. All sports stressed physical fitness and muscular coordination. Those who participated gained great lessons in sportsmanship, teamwork, and playing by the rules! All this made 1967 the year that was in

Football's Debut Spotlights

During the 1966-67 school year, Adams Central celebrated in having its first football team in the history of the school. Under the direction of head coach Fred Hilbert, the team won two out of eight games during the season. The Jets lost their first six games before winning their first game, defeating the Portland reserves 7-0 on a dramatic touchdown pass from Barry Kolter to Steve Zurcher. The Flying Jet football team then closed out the season with a 40-7 victory over the South Adams reserves.

Fall Sports Program

In addition to the initiation of football on the high school level, it was also added on the Jr. High level. The Jr. High squad, coached by Mr. Ted Clark, and Mr. Norman Glass, won two out of three games during their season. The team won both of their games over Montpelier, while losing to Parkway by one point. Jesse Vidal was the leading scorer for the team, tallying six T. D.'s for the Jr. Jets.

Jets Run For Victory

Despite being plagued with injuries, the cross country team won its share of meets during the 1966 season. The team, which had six out of its seven top lettermen returning from their previous championship team, defeated nine teams and lost to five during the regular season. The C. C. team finished in a tie for second in the county meet, but they were hampered by the loss of Blair Brown due to a hip injury.

Cindermen Break Records

For the track team, 1967 was a satisfying year at Adams Central. The Flying Jets, coached by Mr. Bryan, had eleven returning lettermen from the previous year. Three of the lettermen were school record holders: Blair Brown broke the mile record with a time of 4:56.2; Allen Birch set the half-mile record with 2:10.3; and Roger Currie established the two-mile record with a time of 11:15. The team participated in nine-school Allen County Conference for the second year in a row.

"'Speed and Endurance' by hard work" served as the abiding motto for the '66 team. Many hours of after-school practice prepared the cindermen for their strenuous meets. During the 1966 season the Jets placed fourth out of ten teams in the Berne Relays. They also placed 3rd in the County Meet and second in the E. W. V. C., losing to Geneva by three points.

Central's Varsity Strives For

The 1966-67 basketball season will undoubtedly be remembered as one of the many successful campaigns in Adams Central's history. The Flying Jets were victorious in fourteen out of twenty regular season games, which included a six game winning streak. The Jets finest hours of the season came when they bombed previously unbeaten Montpelier for the Spartans only loss of the season, and then flew high past Union City the following night.

For the first time in A. C. history, the Jets competed in the Allen County Tourney in Fort Wayne. The team won the opening game against Huntertown before bowing out to Leo in the second game.

PEP CLUB

Cheering Boosts School Spirit

A red jet and a Jet sign helped boost pep club members morale during the 1966-1967 sports season. Pep club members proudly represented their school at exciting athletic contests. The cheering season began early as new yells for football were learned. The start of the basketball season saw an enlarged pep club as the club was opened to high school boys and Jr. High students.

Leon Morgan, a senior, was involved in a serious automobile accident at the beginning of the 1966-67 school year. At the time of this picture (4-67) he was recuperating at the Lutheran Hospital in Ft. Wayne. Best of luck to Leon as he will soon return to finish his high school career at ACHS.

Seniors Enjoy Final Year

We don't count on our fingers anymore, we use beads.

Hey, Al, are you trying on new Easter bonnets?

Sugar an' spice an' everything nice. That's what senior girls are made of.

This is Central's improved version of 'The Thinker.

CHRISTMAS TREE IS A
TROPICAL TREE GROWN IN HAWAII

". . . and a little child shall lead them."
Isa. 11:6

Recesses spent jumping rope, swinging, playing ball, or just goofing off were the most popular part of the school day for ACHS elementary students. Elementary teachers have the special responsibility of teaching youngsters to want to learn. Twenty-four teachers guided the students in their search for knowledge. Special projects added spice to the daily routines and made school something to look forward to for the 644 elementary students at Adams Central.

Christmas and Valentine exchanges, birthday parties, and unexpected vacations highlighted the "Year that Was."

To Everyone:

The editor wishes to thank all those who have helped to make this year's annual tell a more realistic story of THAT WAS THE YEAR THAT WAS.

Sincerely,
